

Project Highlight - Haeckel Hill

Building upon the past work of the Yukon wind energy program of the late 1990's the Haeckel Hill revitalization project look to provide 4MW of wind energy. The Project today will be the first of its kind to provide clean energy to the remote Yukon grid as an Independent Power Producer, and will play an important role in the region's goal to reduce reliance on fossil fuels and lower carbon emissions. With the foundation pads for these 4 wind turbines embedded in solid rock, Energy North Construction Inc. of Whitehorse needed a way to efficiently remove rock. Calling on the experience of Coogar Sales and Services, within a few weeks the team had a brand new MacLean MDA 8 drill attached to thier Kubota excavator, Nxburst™ rock-breaking cartridges and a blast plan in hand ready to tackle the work. Although the working conditions are tough as the pictures highlight, the crew are forging ahead and making great progress. The MDA and Nxburst™ cartridges are proving up to the task.
